About Lincoln college

Introduction

Lincoln College is an independent further and higher education institution for home & international students, from a range of social and ethnic backgrounds. We offer a broad range of academic and professional courses - specialising in business administration, management and accounting. The philosophy of the College is to ensure students learn through both theoretical teaching and practical application of their area of study.

Our mission

The world is changing, as are the methods of teaching and nature of educational needs. There is a need to create world-class education to meet these global challenges. Lincoln college's mission is to provide quality teaching in the fields of business, management and accounting, so that our students can become just and confident global citizens in the world of business and finance. To ensure quality education, we have created a well-organised and fully resourced educational environment – which includes experience and qualified staff, well-equipped classrooms, a library and computing lab.

Our vision

We aim to be a globally respected further and higher education institution for both home and international students, providing quality learning opportunities and a springboard for students to launch their careers to new heights. We will actively promote diversity and innovation in teaching and learning methods, so that our students not only receive value for money but also the opportunity to fulfill their potential to become future leaders in their chosen field.

Location

Lincoln college is located in Wealdstone, Harrow. Harrow is a northwest London borough, approximately 12 miles away from central London. Harrow is ethnically a diverse London suburb with many leisure facilities, shops and restaurants. It is home to two shopping centres: St Anne's and St George's, which are both easily accessible from the College. Harrow is also famous for Harrow School, which 'Winston Churchill' and Indian First Prime Minister 'Jawaharlal Nehru' attended. The College is 5 minutes walking distance from Harrow & Wealdstone Station, which is served by the London Underground Bakerloo Line, London Overground, London Midland and Southern train services. It is also served by lots of local buses. The College's postal address is: 10 Oxford Road (Ground Floor), Wealdstone, Harrow, Middlesex, HA3 7RG.

Facilities

Lincoln college has its own library facility for students. The College also has an arrangement with a local library from which students may borrow books according to their needs. The College will help students to become members of this library.

There is an integrated well-equipped computer lab within the library, which students can use free of charge. All the computers have broadband access and Microsoft Office. Students are allowed to use the computing facilities for academic purposes only; any Internet browsing must be related to study. The Harrow Leisure Centre is within walking distance from the College and its facilities include swimming, tennis, badminton and a gym.

English Courses

General English

General English program is a more specialized way to study English in London. It is with a few more hours of learning and a lot more substance. The General English program has interactive classes every week. Each day there are two English Communication classes in the morning. Qualified teachers make learning fun. You may think you are playing games and having fun debates, but you are really learning how to refine those tricky grammar points.

In between classes there is a social break. You can relax, have a snack, chat to your new friends or use our comfortable Computer Lab. By clearing your mind, you'll be refreshed and ready for your next class. After lunch, you will have your elective class. Elective classes offer you a unique opportunity to develop specialized English language skills by focusing on the subject area of your choice. Subject choices range from business English to public speaking to creative writing, and beyond.

English for Travel and Tourism

The aims of the course are to enable candidates to develop an understanding of the skills required within key sectors of the travel and tourism industry. A clear understanding of the geography of tourism. An awareness of the economic, social, cultural and environmental impacts of tourism. An understanding of what motivates people to travel.

This course requires candidates to view tourism change and development in terms of actual and potential beneficial and harmful impacts on destinations. Understand the kinds of skills which are needed to make tourism development a success and to apply this understanding to a specific workplace. Consider the range of factors which determine and help to explain the behaviour of tourists and the decisions that they make about tourism products.

The Travel and Tourism course will be particularly suitable for those seeking employment in travel and tourism. Those intending to progress to higher level vocational qualifications. Those already in travel or tourism employment (eg. with hotels, airlines or tour operators) but who wish to broaden their understanding of the industry in which they work.

- three days a week
- Placement test required
- Course Length: 4 to 52 weeks
